

Update from Dr. Rudolph

April 5, 2019

North Bayshore:

In preparation for our upcoming Urban school model visits I would like to provide you with a draft itinerary:

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24

9:30am: Jean Parker Elementary School (SFUSD)-San Francisco

11:00am: Tenderloin Community Elementary School (SFUSD)-San Francisco

Subject to confirmation

Afternoon (TBD): San Francisco Urban School, Nueva School/ San Mateo Campus, Design Tech High School

THURSDAY, APRIL 25

9:00AM: Horace Mann Elementary School (SJUSD)-San Jose

6-9: Study session on urban school design

These schools were selected / recommended because of their design and the size of their lot.

North Bayshore update from Google:

I have requested that Google come and present to the school board as I believe that would allow you to have a better dialogue about your thoughts and/or concerns about the site location. I am including in this week's update a response to your questions from Google.

Mistral:

Attached you will find the information packet that was shared with parents at last week's Cafecito. We are working on the development of an advisory group for middle school. Currently there are a total of 45 students (Crittenden: 14, Graham: 30, Not Returning: 1) headed to middle school. Each middle school principal has stated that they plan on possibly offering one additional elective in Spanish. This advisory committee will start until next year.

Enrollment update – Bullis:

Our team did some spot checking of the families on the Bullis intent to register forms from the CA/TH neighborhoods. All of them were registered in our district for next fall or have other plans. We will continue to do outreach.
